ABANDONED AUTO IS CLUE IN MYSTERY OF VANISHED AUTOISTS

Marshal Schneider Of Osborn Traces Ownership Of Car After Party Flees

Mystery surrounds the finding of an automobile, a Hudson super-six coach, 1925 model, on the Chambersburg Road, near Osborn, Thursday night about 8 o'clock. The abandoned car was reported to Marshal W. A. Schneider Osborn, by a farmer living near the place.

The farmer told officials that six people had occupied the machine, two men and four women. They came to his house and asked him directions to the Brant Pike. The entire party appeared extremely frightened, it is reported, and the women ran toward the Brant Pike and the men escaped through a nearby woods.

An insurance policy found in the car was issued to Earl Walters, Newark, O. The machine bore the license number 262-537. Marshal Schneider called Mrs. Earl Walters at Newark, Friday morning, and she said her husband was not at home and one of the machines of the Weakly Sales Company, Newark, where he was employed as salesman, had disappeared. Papers in the machine proved this connection with the same company. Mrs. Walters was given the description of the abandoned car and said it belonged to the sales agency in Newark.

Marshal Schneider notified Dayton insurance companies and other agents for a possible clue of stolen cars.

A trace of the party that left the car had not been found at noon Friday.

Autoists oppose the lights. Pedestrians demand them and declare that without them crossing the street was a hazardous task. Autoists say they are unnecessary as there is virtually no cross-town traffic.

EXPLOSION SHOWERS THEATER WITH FIRE EYE WITNESS SAYS

Jump From Third Story Window Saves Boys Caught In Box

Kansas City, Mo., June 26.—Fred Wright, 19, of Linneus, Mo., told International News Service today of his almost miraculous escape from a stage box in the Gillis Theatre fire last night.

Wright said he did not believe there were more than twenty persons in the between-show audience when the explosion through the building occurred.

The boy and a friend Vern McCullum, also of Linneus, jumped from a third story window. Their injuries were not serious. It was stated at General Hospital today.

"It all happened so suddenly that I am not sure of the details," Wright said this morning while propped up in bed in a hospital. Vern and I had seen the first show and were watching the picture. Just before the explosion, I heard a low rumbling sound. I don't think it lasted more than a second or two. Then came the explosion.

"It just seemed like the inside of the theatre rose up and the north wall went out. I was thrown out of my seat. The flames and pieces of burning wood flew to the top of the house and then dropped down on us. There were two fellows sitting right in the center of the explosion. I don't think they escaped. I believe they were blown to pieces. Fire followed the explosion immediately."

Wright said his escape by way of the stairs at the front of the house was cut off by flames. A woman was sitting near him, he said. He did not see her after the explosion.

"Vern and I first crowded into a corner, trying to protect ourselves from the flames, but they became so hot we retreated back of the curtain," he continued. "It was there that we found a door that led to the alley. It was three stories down but we figured we would be burned to death if we stayed there. Vern jumped first. He caught a wire but it broke with him. A couple of fellows in the alley called to me to jump, saying they would catch me and I jumped."

YOUTHS ARRESTED IN ABDUCTION CASE

Canton, O., June 26.—Edward Conn and Ralph Emery, both 21, are under arrest here on a charge of abducting and contributing to the delinquency of 16 year old Eva Ardman, whom the two under arrest and two others kidnapped near the girl's home yesterday afternoon.

The young men admit abducting the girl in company with the others, but deny they had any part in the assault on Miss Ardman, who was returned to her home about three hours after the kidnapping. They stood by while the others assaulted the girl.

The girl and the pair under arrest, gave the names of the other abductors and police are now searching for them. They are reported to have left the city.

Miss Ardman is suffering greatly from shock and the assault today.

TWENTY-THREE INJURED IN HOSPITALS AFTER FIRE SWEEPS OLD PLAYHOUSE

FIREMAN KILLED AS TRUCK HITS POST; RUINS ARE SEARCHED

Burlesque Patrons Are Caught in Building As Walls Collapse

Kansas City, Mo., June 26.—Search for bodies began at 5:30 this morning in the ruins of the Gillis Theatre, Kansas City's second oldest playhouse, destroyed by an explosion and fire late last night with an estimated loss of life between thirty and fifty.

Twenty three are known to have been injured and were treated at hospitals.

F. H. Tuey, administrator of the Gillis estate, told International News Service this morning that there were twenty men in the basement of the Sanderson restaurant under the theater and ten more in the basement of the Newark Shoe store next door when the explosion came and that he was sure none got out alive.

Killed when his hose car crashed into a lamp post on the way to the fire, John B. Hogan was the only man definitely known to be dead today.

Fire Chief Alex Henderson said he was unable to give any estimate of the dead but believed that few persons in the theater got out alive.

Until 5:30 this morning, it had been impossible for firemen to get into the ruins because of the heat.

The Gillis, in recent years, has been an all night burlesque house. The explosion came just before the midnight show while a motion picture, "Flaming Passion" was being shown. Most of the chorus girls, members of the orchestra and several employees were in Sanderson's restaurant getting lunch.

C. A. Buckley, patrolman who had just left the Gillis, said that there were not many in the house at the time, a few coming in for the midnight show early. Others estimated that there were possibly twenty or more in the house. Several of these escaped.

The explosion is believed to have come from the Robert Cary Drug store in the building, which had closed a few minutes before the explosion.

According to Henry H. Schrader, 45, who was seated on the first floor, near the door, the entire building seemed to crumble after a streak of flame and debris shot up through its center.

Schrader said he saw bodies blown high as he fought his way out. He had no idea how many were in the audience.

Five employees of Sanderson's restaurant had not been accounted for at 7:30 o'clock this morning according to R. F. Green, manager of the restaurant.

The explosion shot debris for half a block on either side of two streets West Fifth street and Walnut street. The Fifth street entrance to Sanderson's restaurant collapsed at once and it was here that firemen started their first search for bodies this morning, under a pile of tumbled walls. It was at this spot, they declared, the bodies would be found.

The loss is estimated at $150,000.

By 8 a. m. firemen at the risk of their lives were crawling into the ruins of Sanderson's restaurant in the face of the tottering walls. Plans were being made by Chief Henderson to dynamite the walls. A dozen hearses and ambulances had been summoned.

Crowds pushed against the fire lines for four blocks and traffic was tied up. There was none seriously injured in the fire and at 8 o'clock all but four had left the hospitals.

The known dead:

John B. Hogan, fireman, Kansas City, Mo., killed when truck hit steel lamp post on way to fire.

The injured:

Vern McCullum, 21, Linneus, Mo., broken ankle and burns; in hospital.

Fred Wright, 19, Linneus, Mo., sprains and bruises, in hospital.

George Stout, Des Moines, Ia., legs cut, in hospital.

Thos. Audley, 40, Kansas City, fireman, injured in crash that killed Hogan, possible internal injuries, in hospital.

Myrtle Clark, 22, chorus girl, Kansas City, Mo., slightly burned.

Merie Fletcher, 20, chorus girl, Kansas City, Mo., slightly burned.

JACOB COLP EXTENDS INTERESTS BUYING BUSINESS IN PIQUA

Jacob Colp, proprietor of The Workingman's Store, South Detroit Street, is announcing the purchase of the New York Bargain Store, Piqua and completion of an agreement with manufacturers and jobbers by which the stores in Xenia and Piqua will handle sample lines in the future.

According to the new arrangement, announced in an advertisement in today's paper, the name of the Workingman's Store will be changed to "The Sample Store" and the Piqua store will be known as "The New York Sample Store." Both will be managed directly by Mr. Colp and operated as a unit known as "The Sample Stores."

Both the Xenia and Piqua stores will continue to handle high grade men's wear at popular prices and will make a specialty of women's footwear in which the buying arrangements afford an opportunity to offer the public exceptional values. Sample lines in these products of a number of manufacturers will be handled by these stores.

Mr. Colp began business in the Dakin Building, North Detroit Street, in July, 1911, with the purchase of The Army Store. He moved to the present home of The Workingman's Store, South Detroit Street, in November of the same year and has since operated the business there.

BAD DROUGHT UPSETS RED CLOVER HABITS SAYS CROPS EXPERT

Dry weather is causing red clover to set seed in the first crop, and Ohio farmers should decide at once whether they can make more money from seed or from hay, advises Dr. J. B. Park, head of the farm crops department at Ohio State University.

In a normal season, says Dr. Park, the first crop of red clover will not set seed and is therefore cut for hay. Because of the continued dry weather throughout the state this year red clover is setting seed in the first crop.

Inspection of red clover fields on the University farm show that heads are setting from 25 to 30 seeds. In an ordinary stand this would mean a yield of one and one-half bushels to an acre.

Since hay probably will be high on account of the general dry weather Dr. Park believes that farmers should be advised of the condition which obtains in the early setting of seed in red clover so that they may decide before hay cutting time whether there is more profit in letting the crops ripen for seed. Reports from reliable sources indicate that red clover is setting seed in the first crop in Michigan.

When red clover is allowed to ripen for seed the plants generally die leaving no chance for a second crop later in the season.

FAILURE TO APPOINT COMMITTEE MEMBER WORRIES PARTISANS

According to Washington D. C. advice some dissatisfaction exists over the failure to appoint a successor to the late Mrs. John Gordon Battelle, of Columbus, as Ohio national committee-woman. One of the candidates is quoted as saying:

"If they delay appointing the woman we will have Florence Allen for senator and a Democratic governor. No way to stop it, for it will give the Democratic women the opportunity to get the non-partisan organizations, as well as solidify their own ranks. No wonder the Republicans cannot win in this state."

Recently the Ohio Republican State Central Committee, at its final meeting in Columbus before a majority of members departed upon vacations, failed to name a successor to Mrs. Battelle, giving as a reason that the next national election is a long way off. Inconvenience would also be caused in getting the selection of the state committee confirmed by the national committee, it was cited, as a reason for delay.

P. H. Creswell, Xenia, Republican state central committeeman from the Seventh Congressional District, advised Thursday of the state of restlessness that is said to exist, declared he had no comment to make.

COMMISSIONERS NOT IN FAVOR OF JOINING STATE CONFERENCE

City Manager S. O. Hale is inclined to believe that City Commissioners would look with disfavor upon the suggestion that Xenia should join the Ohio conference of Municipalities, an organization composed of Ohio cities joined together for the purpose of obtaining legislative action favorable to themselves.

Manager Hale received word Thursday of a second conference of the representatives of municipalities to be held in Cleveland Friday and Saturday, June 26 and 27, called to discuss to what advantage to Ohio cities certain legislative action obtained through work of the conference at the last General Assembly, could be put.

Xenia has been invited to join the conference and be represented at the Cleveland meeting, according to Manager Hale.

In explanation of the organization Manager Hale said that cities must pay a fee to join the conference, an additional expense that is not provided by city funds. Representatives at the meeting must therefore pay their own expenses, he said.

Manager Hale believes however, that cities must band together to obtain the most favorable results and points out that there are many advantages to be gained by membership in the conference.

CHILD INJURED

Marta Lott, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Crampton Lott, Stone Road, is thought to be serious ly injured as the result of a peculiar accident. The little girl, with other children, was playing in the barn, Thursday morning, and sat in a tire fastened to a rope. The other children pulled her to the top of the barn, a distance of thirty-five feet, where the pulley locked. Screams of the children attracted the child's mother who was unable to assist the girl in her predicament. Mrs. Lott fainted and when other help did not arrive, the child fell to the floor of the barn. She was seriously injured about her head and the extent of her injuries have not been determined. She remained unconscious several hours.

APPLE CROP LIGHT;
FROST DAMAGE AND JUNE DROP BLAMED

The Ohio apple crop appears to be under that of last year owing to the small crop of early apples, especially in southern Ohio, and to the frost damage to late varieties in northern Ohio according to a survey of the reports from 56 fruit sections made by horticultural extension specialists at Ohio State University.

"Ohio's apple crop is difficult to estimate at present," writes F. H. Beach, one of the specialists. "Frost damage has caused spotted condition in central and northern Ohio. June drop is heavy in this section and is continuing. Early varieties last year at this time were 88 per cent of a normal full crop and this year the estimate is but 47 percent on early apples. Late varieties last year at this time were estimated at 63 percent of a normal full crop and this year the estimate is 58 percent."

"All early varieties are very light in southern Ohio but heavier in northern Ohio where rather good setting of Duchesse and Wealthy prevails. Transparents are generally less than half a crop. Grimes Golden is a short crop in southern Ohio and Jonathan is but half a crop. Rome Beauty is the most encouraging crop throughout the state, averaging at present about 70 percent of a normal full crop with the prospect heavier than last year in the southern Ohio Rome Beauty belt."

"There will be a good to heavy crop of Ben Davis but this variety does not figure as prominently at present as it did several years ago. The crop of Baldwin is shy and very spotted and probably will not average over a third of a normal crop in northern Ohio. It is an off year for Stayman and Delicious."

OHIO'S HOG TOTAL LEAST IN 15 YEARS

Ohio farmers have fewer hogs on their farms today than in the past 15 years, according to the State-Federal crop report, and rural economists at Ohio State University point out that 20 per cent of this decrease came within the past year during the corn shortage.

"The decrease was greater in Ohio than in most corn belt states," says Mr. Arnold, one of the economists. "The total decrease for the corn belt amounted to only 16 percent. The reason for the 20 percent decrease in the number of hogs in Ohio was unquestionably because the corn crop of last year was much shorter in proportion to a normal crop in this state than in almost any of the other corn belt states."

"Ohio the decrease in yield last year compared with the yield in 1923 was almost 37 per cent, while the other corn belt states averaged about 25 percent, and the whole United States only 22 percent."

BRITAIN FINDS NEW AMERICAN ENVOY MUCH "DIFFERENT"

London, June 24—Great Britain has spent several weeks studying the new American Ambassador, Alanson B. Houghton, and hasn't quite made up its mind about him yet.

Ambassador Houghton has won the respect of the British, but he is more or less of a puzzle. He is a new kind of Ambassador.

The British public have for some time come to expect American Ambassadors to be nice, amiable men who say pretty things about the "common ties of the English-speaking peoples." Ambassador Houghton, the British find amiable enough, but he hasn't shown any disposition to indulge in pretty but empty mouthings.

On the contrary the Ambassador has spoken rather frankly, and has apparently been striving to impress upon the English public that Anglo-American relations must be founded upon sound and solid facts and not upon mythical "common bonds."

CALL HIM "BUSINESS MAN".

The American Ambassador is constantly referred to in the British press as "a business man," and one gathers that the English are coming to expect from him nothing but strict business. While he is a man who makes and holds friends, the English are rather half convinced that he cannot be counted upon as a constant and professional "diner out," or a social lion for exploitation by hostesses. Some of his predecessors lent themselves very readily to the aims of hostesses, and others have been regarded as ever-willing makers of "pretty speeches," but the present Ambassador shows no disposition to follow in the footsteps of these.

Professionally, the Ambassador is regarded as an astute diplomat. Unlike some of his predecessors, he cannot be regarded as a man pliable in the hands of Britain's clever statesmen.

The British are inclined to feel that Ambassador Houghton is too well trained a diplomat to be left in his post here very long. It would come as no shock if within the next six months or so he were to be elevated to the position of Secretary of State.

AMUNDSEN.

ALTHOUGH there is nothing so disheartening as failure, Captain Roald Amundsen has announced he will make another attempt to fly to the North Pole from the Norway side.

In addition to the natural dangers that lurk in the icy fastnesses of the Arctic circle Amundsen and his party went through an experience of danger and hardship due to their enforced imprisonment away from civilization for twenty-eight days, that would assail courage of the deepest dye.

Yet in the face of failure and ignoring the risk they have already experienced, the explorer and his intrepid followers are ready again to make the trip into the great north. And this is a sample of the kind of courage that has opened new worlds to man and brought greater knowledge to the fund of information science has gathered of this old planet.

MAGAZINES.

THE reform movement now in progress to rid book stalls of certain allegedly salacious magazines, may be worthy in concept but is very much like attempting to catch the bull by the tail.

The movement which has gained followers in many Ohio cities is directing its prohibitive machinery at the dealer instead of at the source. And it is interesting to note that if the attention of those interested in the movement were to be directed to the source, they would find the regulatory machinery of the federal government set up there before them.

It is manifestly unfair to the individual dealer to exert pressure to force him to rid his shelves of the prohibited magazines if his competitor is permitted to take advantage of that situation. If there is a demand for this type of reading matter—and dealers will tell you they sell several hundred of one of the banned magazines each month as compared to twenty-five or so of the higher type of fiction publications—these readers will continue to get the magazine in the city where the prohibition has not been put in effect. The local dealer therefore, will find that he is not only denied the profit on this type of magazine but the compulsory prohibition is not extended far enough to direct the taste of the public to the magazines which are without the pale of the movement.

Dealers are willing to give up the sale of these magazines if the prohibitive movement gets at the source and the public demand is forced into other channels, which will not mean a loss of business to the dealer.

The United States postal department controls the publication of these magazines by requiring them to pass certain tests before they are admitted to the mails. This test is applied with each issue, whether it be weekly or monthly. Monthly magazine publishers now have their August numbers in the hands of these censors, who pass on the contents before the circulation is accepted.

If there be any foundation for the charges made by those who would suppress these magazines, the fair and most effectual avenue open to them in their efforts to curb the sale, is to go at the source—the postal department—and catch the bull by the horns.

JUST FOLKS

Edgar A. Guest

"IF ALL HIS ENEMIES WERE DEAD"

How often to himself he said:
If all his enemies were dead
The world for him would glow with grace

And be indeed a happy place.

"If all his enemies were dead,
He'd rest untroubled in his bed!"

Oh, foolish man, who fails to see

He is himself an enemy.

One cannot think in bitterness
And happiness and peace possess.
And this is something he should know.

It takes two men to make one foe.

If all his enemies were dead,
He would not come to peace. Instead
Tomorrow he would leave his door
And start at once acquiring more.

In the morning, raise the side wire again, and once more stand the jar in boiling water in your boiler, for another hour of processing—exactly as you did before. Completely seal, let stand overnight, and on the third morning again raise the side wire, process the jar in the same way for an hour in your clothes boiler and when you press down the side wire this time the work is done.

This is called the "Intermittent or Three-Day-Processing Method." It is safer than the old One-Period Method of processing. Housewives who used to pack their vegetables into the can cold, will note that in up-to-date canning directions, although "blanching" (that is, dipping into hot water) is often advised before placing fruit or vegetable in the jar, the old "cold dipping" has been abandoned.

United States Government experts advise the use of a steam pressure canner for this vegetable as follows:

Cut the corn kernels off the cob without pre-cooking and place them in a saucepan in boiling water to cover, and let kernels heat thoroughly (off the range). Now fill sterilized quart-size glass jars with the hot kernels, add one teaspoon of salt and one tablespoon of sugar to each jar (and more boiling water if necessary to fill jar to within one-fourth inch of top); put on fresh rubber, cover, and place top wire up but do not press down side wire. Put the jar in this way in your pressure canner, process for 80 minutes at 15 pounds pressure, or 250 degrees Fahrenheit.

Then remove, press down side wire, label and store.

CORN CANNED IN THE WATER BATH OUTFIT: Many housewives have, in other years, had excellent success by canning their corn either in a commercial water-bath outfit, or by using their clothes boiler fitted with a wire rack in the bottom. If you do not possess the steam pressure outfit, and cannot afford one, simply proceed as above directed until you reach the stage of putting the top wire up and not pressing down the side wire; after this, simply stand the jar in boiling water to cover it, on the rack in your boiler and, after the water has recommenced to boil, keep track of the time. It should remain in the boiling water for one hour, then it should be taken out, and the side wire pressed down. Let jar

WILL MARK STREETS FOR TRAFFIC PLAN; PRUGH TAKES SEAT

Although no definite action was taken sentiment was voiced at the City Commission meeting Thursday night at City Hall in favor of immediately installing Xenia's arterial stop system at main thoroughfare intersections in accordance with the new city traffic ordinance.

Installation of the system which will require motorists to come to a complete stop before proceeding on Detroit, Main and Market Streets, main thoroughfares under the ordinance, has been delayed for more than a month.

City Manager S. O. Hale will immediately begin making plans for the erection of stop signs at a majority of fifteen designated street intersections with Market Street to educate the motoring public in the part of safe and sane driving and cut down the accident toll. The signs will be placed 100 feet from the intersections.

Fifty stop signs are available for erection. Intersections will also be stenciled with the word "stop" as further warning to motorists.

The city is not required to sign intersections with any streets except Market Street, which was designated as a main thoroughfare by the traffic ordinance. The question of signing Main and Detroit Streets, main thoroughfares by state law, will be settled in the near future.

Enforcement of the traffic ordinance will probably also begin with the completion of the stop system, it is believed.

The Greene County Auto Club will aid the city in signing the intersections.

John W. Prugh, newly appointed city commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of George E. Hudson, took his seat at the meeting. Mr. Prugh will fill the unexpired term of Mr. Hudson. He occupied the chair vacated by the former commissioner and took an active part in the discussion of various routine affairs.

The matter of naming a mayor for the City of Xenia was not taken up by the commission at its regular meeting.

The commission also took under advisement a plan introduced by Robert Kelly, this city agent for an Elizabeth N. J. traffic signal company, to solve the local traffic problem.

Routine business occupied the attention of the commission during the remainder of the session.

ZIONISTS TO MEET IN WASHINGTON; CONTESTS LOOMING

Washington, June 26.—The twenty-eighth annual convention of the Zionist Organization of America opens here Sunday, June 28, with more than 700 delegates from all parts of the United States coming to celebrate the advances made in the up-building of the Jewish Homeland in Palestine during the past year. The convention will last three days and will be followed by the annual convention of Hadassah, which will also continue for two days.

Leading American Zionists, who have recently returned from surveys of the Jewish Homeland movement in Palestine, will report on the progress made during the past year, featured by the most extensive colonization and the largest immigration in the history of Zionism and by the opening of the Hebrew University on Mount Scopus.

The convention this year is considered of utmost importance by Zionist leaders throughout the world, because definite action will be taken on questions relative to the administration of the Palestine mandate and brought before the World Zionist Congress, supreme Zionist governing body, which holds its biennial sessions in Vienna on August 18.

BACK WEIZMANN

American Zionist leaders, headed by Louis Lipsky, chairman of the Zionist organization, are backing Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Organization, in his efforts to have non-Zionists co-operate through the Jewish agency in up-building Palestine. The mandate issued by the League of Nations to Great Britain provides that the development of Palestine as the Jewish Homeland shall be carried on in cooperation with the Jewish agency, which, until otherwise changed shall consist of the World Zionist Organization.

During the past year steps have been taken to extend the Jewish Agency to include 50 per cent Zionists and 50 per cent non-Zionists. During his last visit to America this Spring Dr. Weizmann, in co-operation with Louis Marshall, Felix M. Warburg, Samuel Untermyer, Mr. Lipsky and other leading American Jews, launched the organization of the American branch of the Jewish Agency on this basis.

Many European Zionists are strongly opposing the extension of the Jewish Agency, which they call the "American plan." This opposition is expected to develop first at the American convention.

MANY FISH DEAD

Nelsonville, June 26—Thousands of dead fish are rotting on the banks of the Hocking River for many miles in this vicinity, according to reports to the state health department. State officials are investigating in an effort to learn the source of the poison in the stream which is believed to have caused the wholesale slaughter.

BODY OF MARSHALL WILL BE MOVED TO MARION MAUSOLEUM

Indianapolis, Ind., June 26—The body of Thomas Riley Marshall, America's war-time Vice-President, which lies temporarily in the receiving vault at Crown Hill Cemetery here, will be removed to its final resting place in the Marshall mausoleum at Marion, Ind., in October, according to preliminary plans today.

Mrs. Marshall has just returned from a visit to Marion, during which she directed that certain improvements be made in the mausoleum and arranged to have Mr. Marshall's name inscribed on a tablet on the inside.

Mr. Marshall's quaint philosophy of life was perhaps never better exemplified than in a letter, just made public, stating that "there is nothing so bad that it might not be worse, and a grin cures many a pain."

WRITES OLD FRIEND

The letter was written to John Brahms at Eagle Rock, California, a boyhood friend of Mr. Marshall. On learning that Brahms had suffered a broken leg in an accident, Mr. Marshall promptly wrote him the following:

"My Dear John Brahms:
"I noticed by the Columbia City Post that you had met with a misfortune and had lost thereby a leg."
"I hope you are going to get better, and maybe it will be my good fortune to get to California again and come to see you. Whatever happens, adopt my philosophy of life—there is nothing so bad that it might not be worse, and a grin cures many a pain. I shall hope to hear that you are progressing along toward good health."

"Your friend,
"THOMAS R. MARSHALL."

MODISH MITZI—Ensembles I Have Seen

Mitzi has taken to the ensemble mode wholeheartedly. The parasol and dress ensemble is one of the newest. The parasol of printed crepe matches the dress of the same material. A jabot front gives the blouse a very smart air.

Polly has a mild form of ensemble—a smart ensemble suit. Coat—one of the short jackets worn over a dress. The trimming of stitching makes her dress and the jacket very closely related to one another. Polly is trying to look as though she weren't conscious of its smartness.

This is the rear view of an ensemble. It's a cape coat. The trimming on the cap is where the ensemble will find its keynote. This decoration is repeated on the dress. Ensemble just means that two or more things have to match when they are assembled together.

This is Mitzi on the beach. It shows that Mitzi and her ensemble will

EVERETT SCOTT'S LUCKY STREAK HAS LASTED TEN YEARS

BY DAVISH J. WALSH

New York, June 26—There have been great names in plenty that never found their way into a world series box score—Ed Delahanty, LaJoie, Waddell, Hornsby, Sisler, Elmer Flick, Bill Bradley, Heilmann, Max Carey, Jake Fournier, Veach, Mike Doolan, Nap Rucker, Terry Turner, Bobby Wallace, Bill Bernhardt, Addie Joss, Donie Bush and Hal Chase are only a few that come to mind offhand.

Consider, then, the case of Everett Scott who has five world series checks to show for his ten years in baseball and seems to be in a fair way to add another to the checkbook.

Even though nearly at the end of his competitive rope, Scott's luck ran true to form. He was recently traded from the Yankees, a seemingly hopeless outfit, to the champion Senators, favored by many to win the 1925 pennant in the American League. With his usual facility, Scott again has jumped from the frying pan into the plowed field chaise lounge.

SETS RECORD

Yet, with all due respect to his ability, Scott would hardly be remembered in the coming years if it wasn't for the fact that he hung up an endurance record that probably will live always. He played in 1,307 consecutive ball games from June 20, 1916 to May 7 of this year, when he was benched by Miller Huggins—a most remarkable effort.

But otherwise there was nothing about Scott's ball playing to engrave his name on the pages of Time. He was an excellent shortstop, but there have been better.

And, lest a misconception be placed upon these phrases, permit the writer to assure one and all that he considers Scott to have been eminently deserving of his good fortune. And, in this, he differs not at all from a dozen others to whom luck was more or less of a total stranger.

Scott, on the other hand, became acquainted almost from the outset of his major league career. He came up to the Red Sox in 1915, replaced the elderly Heinie Wagner and played against the Phillies in the Fall series. The Sox won again in 1916 and 1918, and Scott was on hand for the melon cutting.

SOLD TO YANKS

Then Harry Frazee began dismantling the Sox and after he had rendered them useless for purposes of pennant hunting, he traded Scott to the champion Yankees of 1922. The young man got into another world series that Fall and again in 1923, winding up his career in New York with second place money last season.

He now seems due for another cut, since it is pretty generally agreed that the Senators will do no worse than third this year.

MERCHANTS GOING AFTER EIGHTH WIN

The Xenia Merchants baseball team will go after its eighth consecutive victory in the game with the Park Athletic Club of Springfield Sunday afternoon at the Dickinson Park diamond.

The Merchants are making diamond history this season by mowing teams down right and left and have an excellent chance to sail through the 1925 season undefeated.

Timely slugging and air-tight twirling has kept the Merchants on the winning side for seven straight games this season, which is undoubtedly the secret of diamond success. Added to this the team fielding has been above par and the Merchants are probably the strongest nine in the county.

Lewis and Jones have been alternately bearing the pitching burden again this season.

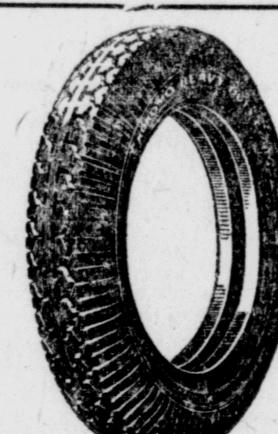

Jones will probably be given the tough assignment of pitching the Fairfield game with Ewing on the receiving end.

Fairfield is also touted as having a strong team this year and will endeavor to perform the feat of handing the Merchants their first beating in the Sunday clash. The game will probably start at 2:30 o'clock.

SATURDAY GAMES TO BE PLAYED FRIDAY

The first half of the double-header will bring together the Tilton's '33' team and the second-place Hooven and Allison nine. The leading R. A.

Kelly team will attempt to add the Pennsylvania Railroad nine to its long string of victims in the final game.

With the addition of new strength, the Tiltons have become formidable contenders in the league and may pull the H. and A. team within striking distance of the tall under teams in the Friday clash. The Kellys will also find hard sledding in the game with the Pennsy nine and one of the closest battles of the league season is looked for.

The Kellys now have a lead of two full games in the Industrial League over the runner-up H. and A. team.

BAYLIFFS HOPE TO WIN AGAIN SUNDAY

The Bowersville Bayliffs rejuvenated nine will attempt to extend its winning streak to two games in the game with the Park Athletic Club of Springfield Sunday afternoon.

The return of Wells has put additional confidence into the players and with the impetus of last Sunday's win, the team is confident to continuing its small winning streak.

COMMISSIONERS MAY MARK DANGER SPOTS ON LOCAL HIGHWAYS

A request sent by Governor Vic Donahey to Ohio boards of county commissioners to erect "inexpensive, small, white crosses" at every spot on their respective road systems where accidents have occurred that resulted fatally, one cross for each person killed outright on the spot, has been received by Greene County commissioners, according to Herman Evey, president of the board.

The board has been unable to give the matter its full consideration and no action will be taken until the next regular session, it is announced.

In a proclamation issued by the governor, a blanket request was made to all county commissioners in the state to erect such crosses. Instructions were issued to the state highway department directing that department to place the crosses at various points on the state highway system where traffic fatalities have occurred, in order to impress upon the motorist the necessity of careful driving.

The governor believes that "if every citizen of Ohio will perform his or her part the tremendous growing casualty list can be greatly reduced."

County commissioners have the option of erecting the crosses themselves or obtaining them from the state department of public welfare.

Erection of the crosses on the state system will commence July 1, it is announced.

MURDER VICTIM HAD FRACTURED SKULL

Batavia, O., June 25.—An autopsy performed Thursday by Dr. A. C. Christopher, coroner of Clermont county, revealed that the murderer of the pretty woman whose nude body was found floating in the Ohio river near Utopia, Ohio, late Tuesday, had fractured her skull evidently with a club before disposing of the body.

Coroner Christopher said also that the victim had been strangled and then thrown into the river.

As no water was found in the girl's lungs, it is believed she was dead before her body was thrown into the river.

Health Hints
by the Father of Physical Culture

Any food which a man eats over and above what he actually requires, simply poisons and weakens him. If food is not properly digested and assimilated by the body, toxins (poisons) are formed, and these impair the tissues, poison the nerve-cells, and prevent their proper functioning. The thing to do, in such cases, when the patient feels weakened, is not to give him more food, but to get rid of the poisons which have accumulated within the body; and this is done by stimulating the activity of the excretory organs, and by preventing the administration of any more food until these poisons are completely eliminated.

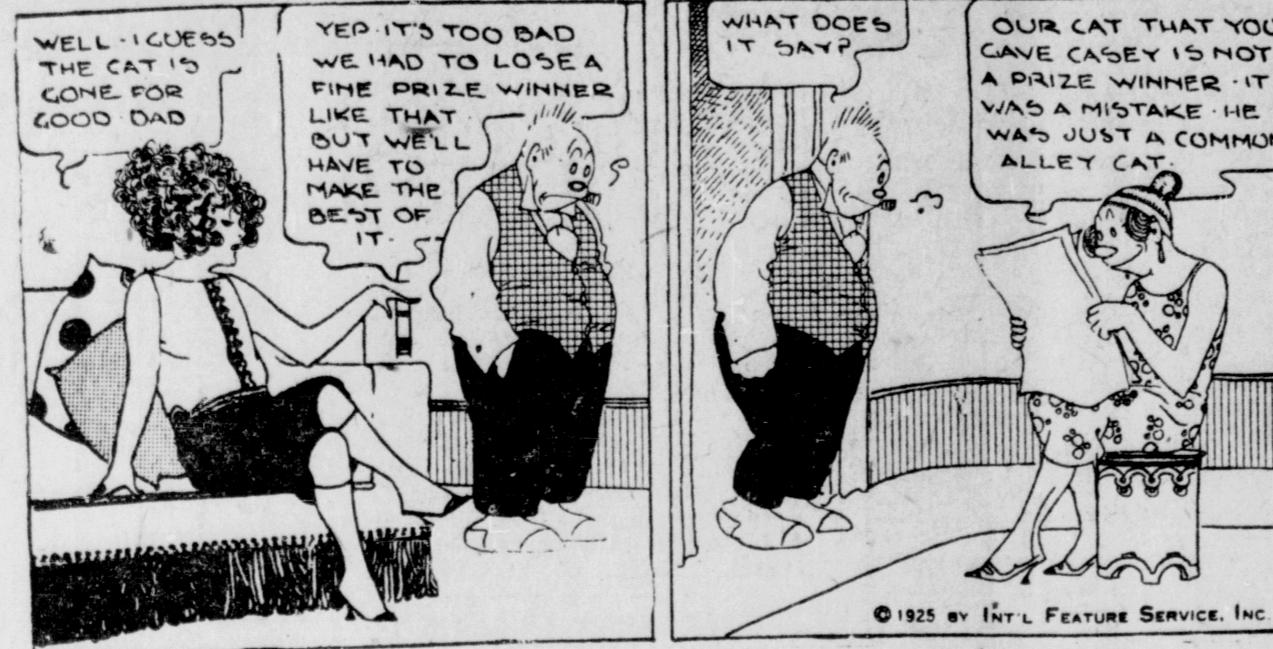

The fact that food does not necessarily give strength, but may be a poison, is proved by the fact that a man, when he is ill does not crave food but on the contrary turns against it. This is the voice of Nature, which thus says as plainly as possible that no food is required. If a man is weak and ill, it is not due to lack of food, but to the fact that his body is poisoned; and as these poisons are disposed of he will increase in health and strength.

This is proved by the fact that many patients, no matter how much food they eat, constantly lose weight; in fact they lose more weight when they are eating heartily than when they are not eating at all!

No one need be afraid of starving by depriving the body of food for a day or two. It has been proved, by numerous experiments, that most persons will not starve in less than a month; and many people have fasted nearly double that length of time (drinking only water) and have not starved to death, but on the contrary, have cured themselves of chronic diseases thereby. Of course if one is in delicate health through poor assimilation, and much below normal weight, fasting may be inadvisable and should then only be undertaken under the supervision of a physician who can watch the heart beat and other symptoms of possible excessive weakness.

The patient may feel weak, if food is taken away from him, for a time; but this feeling is due to the fact that food is a stimulant, and the sudden withdrawal of any stimulant will result in a feeling of weakness. This feeling of weakness may be noted at the beginning of a fast; but it is delusive and will pass off.

MICHAEL'S MARRIAGE

—By MICHAEL

CHAPTER LXXX.

That evening at dinner Lilah remarked to Michael:

"Bertha Beall was here this afternoon, and she says that Abe Mallory, one of my old admirers is now going with one of your old admirers, Helen Hunley—appropriate, isn't it?"

He smiled, but slightly.

"Who's Bertha Beall?"

"Why, you've heard me speak of her! I don't believe you've ever met her though. Bertha doesn't go out much. She's awfully unattractive, but a very nice girl. I know her a long time, and like her."

"Thought you weren't going to have any company," he observed casually, as if it didn't matter.

"Well, since you're upset our plans... Besides, I didn't invite her; she just came of her own accord."

"Oh!"

Silence prevailed for a time then Lilah addressed her husband, eagerly:

"Michael, let's go to the dance at the country club tonight."

He regarded her for a moment, then rubbed his chin. "I don't know... I'm pretty tired."

"Yes, dear, I know you're tired, but a ride in the country will rest you up. Besides we'll only stay for a couple of dances."

"All right," he yielded.

"Don't go if you don't want to, dear."

"Oh, I want to all right."

His tone put her in a thoughtful mood, and after they had dressed and were on their way she spoke to him:

"Michael, I think it would be a good plan if each of us were to have one evening off each week. I mean for each of us to have one night that is absolutely our own. It could be the same night: Monday, say. You could go out with Lonnie Capper and play poker and drink that vile stuff they serve at your club, and I could go where I liked."

"All right," he yielded.

"Don't go if you don't want to, dear."

"Oh! It will be all right for you to go out at night alone?"

"Well, you know with a man it's different."

"Yes, I know that's the way most men feel about it, but I thought you were different, Michael."

"Really, Lilah," he hastened to say, "it would be all right except that people would misunderstand. You know what they'd think."

"What would they think? They'd see us together at other

Bath brushes used peppily on bare pink cuticle digs deeper into pores, lifts out the clogged perspiration and makes the ole hide "breathe" properly.

Sponges are good too for making happy skins happier but not nearly so good as a brush. Lots of folks don't agree with me on this point and always buy sponges so I won't argue too strong again' em. Prices 25c to $1.25.

Bath salts coupled with a good brush, a good soap and a jar of elbow grease makes one forget poverty, hot weather, income taxes and the new prices on gasoline. Our Van Times is especially exhilarating.

Sponges and Chamois Skins for Autos

Even if you are in the habit of getting a professional "car bath," it's no reason why you can't "touch up" the ole bus yourself—once in awhile. Right?

Swim Caps

The men are wearin' 'em this year!—gosh girls, we gotta do SOMETHING! You've swiped our hair-cuts, pants, collars, neckties, cigarettes, votes and razors, and we just GOTTA get back somehow! We sure got a bee-UTE-tiful assortment, too—of bath caps that is.

Just Bugs

If you like 'em as pets don't buy Black Flag, fly paper, Cenol or Flit. You'll croak 'em if you leave any stuff like this lying around.

When I was new in the drug business some 200 years ago, nothing pained me more than to have to deal out stamps and postal cards to customers who bought nothing else. A little old fashioned druggist in Xenia (he's still living) taught me different and I thank him for the lesson. Here was his philosophy:

"A drug store MUST have TRAFFIC PAST THE COUNTERS in order to be a real success in its community. To get it the proprietor—REAL MONEY! To me, that's a very foolish, expensive method—foolish because it fools no one and expensive because "give aways"

"The REAL WAY to get this "traffic" is to do the LITTLE THINGS, perform the HOMELY COURTESIES and DO IT EVERY DAY of the year! 'Make change' for customers, sell them stamps, give them plenty of telephone service, free directory, gossip about town, direction to other places—everything an Information Bureau would do. AND DO IT BECAUSE YOU LIKE IT! That's what makes TRAFFIC!"

And that's US FOLKS here in this shop! I hope I lick Uncle Sam on the Stamp business, wear out a bearing on the telephone, jam the Cash Register "making change" and get hoarse giving out information.

Shorty Says:-

"Fact, i really BELIEVE Doc really means what he says, up above! Much as I hate to agree with Doc at times, I GOTTA! I've seen that man chase around counters on one wheel, bang on the cash register, look up an address, deal out a pound of stamps, show a man how to read his road map and end up in front of the fountain, hooked onto an Orangeade with NOT ONE CENT profit to paste in his wad!

And SMILING—EVERY MINUT. The only way I fitter it out is that Doc is just a little weak—he's yesterday holding a Canadian type baby under one arm while he sold the lady a stamp, found an address for her and made a phone call with the other arm! The mother had to fix her garter or sumpin'. Yes, Doc's accommodatin' but he's sure a "horrible example" to ME. P. S. Canada is wet.

Fountain and Police News

This fountain is popular so it seems from the way we deal out drinks and creams. We've cream in bricks and pineapple ice and each of them is mighty nice. So folks come in and stay awhile, get cool inside, outside, a smile, (poor poetry but this fountain of mine can't be told about in ordinary prose.)

Jake's pink caput bristled zip-pily all last Tuesday, and Wednesday morning there appeared in our window the cleverest display on HOW PAPER IS MADE that this town ever saw! A bolt of lightning struck the south arm from the cross on the north spire of St. Patrick's Cathedral, on Fifth Avenue here. Another shattered a five ton ball of granite which surmounted the American Museum of Natural History.

Two persons were killed on the White Horse Pike near Hammonton, N. J., when their car skidded and crashed into a tree. The dead are: Mrs. Clara Barnett, 50, of Camden, N. J., and a man believed to have been Marius Johansen, Philadelphia.

Those killed in the trolley crash were:

ABANDONED AUTO IS CLUE IN MYSTERY OF VANISHED AUTOISTS

Marshal Schneider of Osborn Traces Ownership Of Car After Party Flees

Mystery surrounds the finding of an automobile, a Hudson super-six coach, 1925 model, on the Chambersburg Road, near Osborn, Thursday night about 8 o'clock. The abandoned car was reported to Marshal W. A. Schneider Osborn, by a farmer living near the place.

The farmer told officials that six people had occupied the machine, two men and four women. They came to his house and asked him directions to the Brant Pike. The entire party appeared extremely frightened, it is reported, and the women ran toward the Brant Pike and the men escaped through a nearby woods.

An insurance policy found in the car was issued to Earl Walters, Newark, O. The machine bore the license number 262-537. Marshal Schneider called Mrs. Earl Walters at Newark, Friday morning, and she said her husband was not at home and one of the machines of the Weekly Sales Company, Newark, where he was employed as salesman, had disappeared. Papers in the machine proved this connection with the same company. Mrs. Walters was given the description of the abandoned car and said it belonged to the sales agency in Newark.

Marshal Schneider notified Dayton insurance companies and other agencies for a possible clue of stolen cars.

A trace of the party that left the car had not been found at noon Friday.

BATTLE OVER LIGHTS

St. Clairsville, June 26.—A hot dispute over the advisability of installing traffic lights on Main Street—the National road—gives promise of becoming the chief issue in the forthcoming campaign here. Autoists oppose the lights. Pedestrians demand them and declare that without them crossing the street was a hazardous task. Autoists say they are unnecessary as there is virtually no cross-town traffic.

GERMAN SCIENTISTS PUZZLED AT EVOLUTION TRIAL HERE; SAY THEORY SUPPORTS BIBLE

Berlin, June 26.—As the time approaches for the Scopes evolution trial in Tennessee, European scientists are professing themselves more and more puzzled over this unprecedented American event.

Instead of accepting evolution as "throwing down" the scriptural version of creation, many continental scientists take a directly opposite view, contending that the theory of evolution bears out the theory of divine creation.

One of these, Dr. Emil M. Carthaus, famous anthropologist, and geologist, who has conducted intensive experiments with apes, told International News service today he was "utterly unable to comprehend the conflict in America."

"Why," said Prof. Carthaus, "the world will come when theologians will preach evolution in support of Christian faith. They will quote Darwin in support of the existence of a divinity."

"I cannot comprehend why in America, which has always been the freest country in the world, there are men so narrow and so intolerant as to prosecute a teacher like Scopes," he continued.

"To me the strangest thing is that your theologians consider evolution as heresy and blasphemy. I have been a scientist all my life. I am a firm believer in Darwin's theory of evolution, but with equal firmness I have believed in God."

SAM CRANE, FORMER BASEBALL PLAYER AND WRITER IS DEAD

Veteran Ex-Giant And Dean Of Scribes Victim Of Pneumonia In Bronx

New York, June 6.—Sam Crane, the greatest second baseman of his day and later famous as a writer of baseball, died at his home in the Bronx today of pneumonia. He was 71 years old.

Crane accompanied the New York Giants on their last trip west where he developed pneumonia. He was taken off the train last Monday and removed to his home.

He was dean of baseball writers and gifted with a prolific pen. He was a writer on the sports staff of the New York Journal for the last quarter of a century.

He was known to the men and players all over the country and had a legion of friends. He was personally one of the most popular sports writers in the country.

News of his death caused profound grief among his friends in New York sporting circles this morning.

Crane began his baseball career with the Lowell, Mass., club in 1875. Later he went to Fall River as a second baseman, having previously played shortstop. They brought him back to Lowell and from there he went to the big league. He wound up his career with the New York Giants in 1890. He leaves a wife and two sons, Stephen and Elmer. Stephen is his son by his first wife.

DEFENSE STARTS

Columbus, O., June 26.—Defense of Louis W. Josephson, former vice president of the Ohio Industrial Endowment Fund Company, on trial here on a charge of embezzeling $105,000 in company funds, was scheduled to open in Franklin County Common Pleas Court today.

DIES IN HOSPITAL AFTER AUTO CRASH

Canton, O., June 26.—Harry Lutzinger, 55, train dispatcher for the Pennsylvania railroad company at Alliance, was almost instantly killed shortly before midnight Thursday when he was run down by an automobile driven by J. C. Wood of West Ely Street. Wood stopped and took Lutzinger to the Alliance City Hospital but the injured man had a badly fractured skull and he died shortly after his admission to the institution. Wood is being held by the police under $1,000 bond pending a thorough investigation of the case.

"I cannot comprehend why in America, which has always been the freest country in the world, there are men so narrow and so intolerant as to prosecute a teacher like Scopes," he continued.

EXPLOSION SHOWERS THEATER WITH FIRE EYE WITNESS SAYS

Jump...From Third Story Window Saves Boys Caught In Box

Kansas City, Mo., June 26.—Fred Wright, 19, of Linneus, Mo., told International News Service today of his almost miraculous escape from a stage box in the Gillis Theatre fire last night. Wright said he did not believe there were more than twenty persons in the between-show audience when the explosion through the building occurred.

The boy and a friend Vern McCullum, also of Linneus, jumped from a third story window. Their injuries were not serious, it was stated at General Hospital today.

"It all happened so suddenly that I am not sure of the details," Wright said this morning while propped up in bed in a hospital. Vern and I had seen the first show and were watching the picture. Just before the explosion, I heard a low rumbling sound. I don't think it lasted more than a second or two. Then came the explosion.

"It just seemed like the inside of the theatre rose up and the north wall went out. I was thrown out of my seat. The flames and pieces of burning wood flew to the top of the house and then dropped down on us. There were two fellows sitting right in the center of the explosion. I don't think they escaped. I believe they were blown to pieces. Fire followed the explosion immediately."

Wright said his escape by way of the stairs at the front of the house was cut off by flames. A woman was sitting near him, he said. He did not see her after the explosion.

"Vern and I first crowded into a corner, trying to protect ourselves from the flames, but they became so hot we retreated back of the curtain," he continued. "It was there that we found a door that led to the alley. It was three stories down but we figured we would be burned to death if we stayed there. Vern jumped first. He caught a wire but it broke with him. A couple of fellows in the alley called to me to jump, saying they would catch me and I jumped."

"Our problems are the problems of ocean shipping," Senator Bingham said. "In shipping circles you understand the difference between a port, a harbor and an anchorage. If you want to save time by using commercial aviation you must learn the difference between an airport a flying field and a landing field.

"The landing field is only an anchorage. There your ship may stay under certain favorable conditions, but will avoid it if she can possibly help it.

"A flying field is only a natural harbor. Grassy plains make good landing fields, but the existence of grassy plains no more satisfies the air pilot looking for good terminal facilities than does a natural harbor satisfies the demands of a sea captain looking for good port facilities.

BUILD AIRPORTS

"An airport is like a seaport. It has to be constructed by man to meet the needs of aircraft. We must build hangars and shops and provide runways, night lights, radio service, weather data and other facilities. Then will commercial aviation make great strides, and those cities which have adequate airports will flourish accordingly."

"New York, San Francisco and Seattle are blessed with wonderful natural harbors. If they are to become great airports they must speedily study the requirements and build accordingly."

Heavily laden air transports will avoid cities and towns where it is impossible to make safe landings; where the navigable air is restricted by high buildings, wires and other obstructions. Senator Bingham predicted.

He estimated that the commercial transport plane will save the commercial passenger at least 50 per cent of the time compared with the fastest trains or motor cars. Bills of lading, commercial papers, small articles of great value but little bulk could all be safely sent by airplane if proper terminal facilities are provided at either end and a proper airway is provided over which to fly, he said.

OUTLINE PROGRAM

Senator Bingham summed up as follows:

"1. We must plan to use airplanes over land and airships over sea.

"2. We must recognize the absolute necessity of proper terminal facilities. There must be adequate airports if there is to be much air commerce. There must also be suitable flying fields as air stations and frequent landing fields to use as anchorages in time of storm and stress.

"3. We must realize the necessity of developing navigable airways and providing them with adequate charts, lighthouses, buoys, beacons, radio and other necessary aids to navigation.

"4. Our municipalities must aid by furnishing airports; our States must aid by providing airways. Our national Government, through a Bureau of Air Navigation in the Department of Commerce, must do as much to aid air commerce as it has done to aid ocean commerce."

TWENTY-THREE INJURED IN HOSPITALS AFTER FIRE SWEEPS OLD PLAYHOUSE

FIREMAN KILLED AS TRUCK HITS POST; RUINS ARE SEARCHED

Burlesque Patrons Are Caught in Building As Walls Collapse

Kansas City, Mo., June 26.—Search for bodies began at 5:30 this morning in the ruins of the Gillis Theatre, Kansas City's second oldest playhouse, destroyed by an explosion and fire late last night with an estimated loss of life of between thirty and fifty.

Twenty three are known to have been injured and were treated at hospitals.

F. H. Tuey, administrator of the Gillis estate, told International News Service this morning that there were twenty men in the basement of the Sanderson restaurant under the theater and ten more in the basement of the Newark Shoe store next door when the explosion came and that he was sure none got out alive.

Killed when his hose cart crashed into a lamp post on the way to the fire, John B. Hogan was the only man definitely known to be dead early today.

Fire Chief Alex Henderson said he was unable to give any estimate of the dead but believed that few persons in the theater got out alive.

Until 5:30 this morning, it had been impossible for firemen to get into the ruins because of the heat.

The Gillis, in recent years, has been an all night burlesque house. The explosion came just before the midnight show while a motion picture, "Flaming Passion" was being shown. Most of the chorus girls, members of the orchestra and several employees were in Sanderson's restaurant getting lunch.

C. A. McCullum, retrovisor, who had just left the Gillis, said that there were not many in the house at the time, a few coming in for the midnight show early. Others estimated that there were possibly twenty or more in the house. Several of these escaped.

The explosion is believed to have come from the Robert Cary Drug store in the building, which had closed a few minutes before the explosion.

According to Henry H. Schrader, 45, who was seated on the first floor, near the door, the entire building seemed to crumble after a streak of flame and debris shot up through its center.

Schrader said he saw bodies blown high as he fought his way out. He had no idea how many were in the audience.

Five employees of Sanderson's restaurant had not been accounted for at 7:30 o'clock this morning, according to R. F. Green, manager of the restaurant.

The explosion shot debris from a block on either side of two streets, West Fifth street and Walnut street. The Fifth street entrance to Sanderson's restaurant collapsed at once and it was here that firemen started their first search for bodies this morning, under a pile of tumbled walls. It was at this spot, they declared, the bodies were found.

The loss is estimated at $150,000.

By 8 a.m. firemen at the risk of their lives were crawling into the ruins of Sanderson's restaurant in the face of the tottering walls. Plans were being made by Chief Henderson to dynamite the walls. A dozen horses and ambulances had been summoned.

Crowds pushed against the fire lines for four blocks and traffic was tied up.

There was none seriously injured in the fire and at 8 o'clock all but four had left the hospitals.

The Known Dead:

John B. Hogan, fireman, Kansas City, Mo., killed when truck hit steel lamp post on way to fire.

The Injured:

Vern McCullum, 21, Linneus, Mo., broken ankle and burns; in hospital.

Fred Wright, 19, Linneus, Mo., sprains and bruises, in hospital.

JACOB COLP EXTENDS INTERESTS BUYING BUSINESS IN PIQUA

Jacob Colp, proprietor of The Workingman's Store, South Detroit Street, is announcing the purchase of the New York Bargain Store, Piqua and completion of an agreement with manufacturers and jobbers by which the stores in Xenia and Piqua will handle sample lines in the future.

According to the new arrangement, announced in an advertisement in today's paper, the name of the Workingman's Store will be changed to "The Sample Store" and the Piqua store will be known as "The New York Sample Store." Both will be managed directly by Mr. Colp and operated as a unit known as "The Sample Stores."

Both the Xenia and Piqua stores will continue to handle high grade men's wear at popular prices and will make a specialty of women's foot-wear in which the buying arrangements afford an opportunity to offer the public exceptional values. Sample lines in these products of a number of manufacturers will be handled by these stores.

Mr. Colp began business in the Dakin Building, North Detroit Street, in July, 191, with the purchase of The Army Store. He moved to the present home of The Workingman's Store, South Detroit Street, in November of the same year and has since operated the business there.

BAD DROUGHT UPSETS RED CLOVER HABITS SAYS CROPS EXPERT

Dry weather is causing red clover to set seed in the first crop, and Ohio farmers should decide at once whether they can make more money from seed or from hay, advises Dr. J. B. Park, head of the farm crops department at Ohio State University.

In a normal season, says Dr. Park, the first crop of red clover will not set seed and is therefore cut for hay. Because of the continued dry weather throughout the state this year red clover is setting seed in the first crop.

Inspection of red clover fields on the University farm show that heads are setting from 25 to 30 seeds. In an ordinary stand this would mean a yield of one and one-half bushels to an acre.

Since hay probably will be high on account of the general dry weather Dr. Park believes that farmers should be advised of the condition which obtains in the early setting of seed in red clover so that they may decide before hay cutting time whether there is more profit in letting the crops ripen for seed. Reports from reliable sources indicate that red clover is setting seed in the first crop in Michigan.

When red clover is allowed to ripen for seed the plants generally die leaving no chance for a second crop later in the season.

FAILURE TO APPOINT COMMITTEE MEMBER WORRIES PARTISANS

According to Washington D. C. sources some dissatisfaction exists over the failure to appoint a successor to the late Mrs. John Gordon Battelle, of Columbus, as Ohio national committee-woman. One of the candidates is quoted as saying:

"If they delay appointing the woman we will have Florence Allen for senator and a Democratic governor. No way to stop it, for it will give the Democratic women the opportunity to get the non-partisan organizations, as well as solidify their own ranks. No wonder the Republicans cannot win in this state."

Recently the Ohio Republican State Central Committee, at its final meeting in Columbus before a majority of members departed upon vacations, failed to name a successor to Mrs. Battelle, giving as a reason that the next national election is a long way off. Inconvenience would also be caused in getting the selection of the state committee confirmed by the national committee, it was cited, as a reason for delay.

P. H. Creswell, Xenia, Republican state central committeeman from the Seventh Congressional District, advised Thursday of the state of restlessness that is said to exist, declared he had no comment to make.

COMMISSIONERS NOT IN FAVOR OF JOINING STATE CONFERENCE

City Manager S. O. Hale is inclined to believe that City Commissioners would look with disfavor upon the suggestion that Xenia should join the Ohio conference of Municipalities, an organization composed of Ohio cities joined together for the purpose of obtaining legislative action favorable to themselves.

Manager Hale received word Thursday of a second conference of the representatives of municipalities to be held in Cleveland Friday and Saturday, June 26 and 27, called to discuss what advantage to Ohio cities, certain legislative action obtained through work of the conference at the last General Assembly, could be put.

Xenia has been invited to join the conference and be represented at the Cleveland meeting, according to Manager Hale.

In explanation of the organization Manager Hale said that cities must pay a fee to join the conference, an additional expense that is not provided for by city funds. Representatives at the meeting must therefore pay their own expenses, he said.

Manager Hale believes however, that cities must band together to obtain the most favorable results and points out that there are many advantages to be gained by membership in the conference.

CHILD INJURED

Marta Lott, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Crampton Lott, Stone Road, is thought to be serious ly injured as the result of a peculiar accident. The little girl, with other children, was playing in the barn, Thursday morning, and sat in a tire fastened to a rope. The other children pulled her to the top of the barn, a distance of thirty-five feet, where the pulley locked. Screams of the children attracted the child's mother who was unable to assist the girl in her predicament. Mrs. Lott fainted and when other help did not arrive, the child fell to the floor of the barn. She was seriously injured about her head and the extent of her injuries have not been determined. She remained unconscious several hours.

APPLE CROP LIGHT; FROST DAMAGE AND JUNE DROP BLAMED

The Ohio apple crop appears to be under that of last year owing to the small crop of early apples, especially in southern Ohio, and to the frost damage to late varieties in northern Ohio according to a survey of the reports from 56 fruit sections made by horticultural extension specialists at Ohio State University.

"Ohio's apple crop is difficult to estimate at present," writes F. H. Beach, one of the specialists. "Frost damage has caused spotted condition in central and northern Ohio. June drop is heavy in this section and is continuing. Early varieties last year at this time were 88 per cent of a normal full crop and this year the estimate is but 47 percent on early apples. Late varieties last year at this time were estimated at 63 percent of a normal full crop and this year the estimate is 55 percent."

"All early varieties are very light in southern Ohio but heavier in northern Ohio where rather good setting of Duchessa and Wealthy prevails. Transparents are generally less than half a crop. Grimes Golden is a short crop in southern Ohio and Jonathan is but half a crop. Rome Beauty is the most encouraging crop throughout the state, averaging at present about 70 percent of a normal full crop with the prospect heavier than last year in the southern Ohio Rome Beauty belt."

"There will be a good to heavy crop of Ben Davis but this variety does not figure as prominently at present as it did several years ago. The crop of Baldwin is shy and very spotted and probably will not average over a third of a normal crop in northern Ohio. It is an off year for Stayman and Delicious."

OHIO'S HOG TOTAL LEAST IN 15 YEARS

Ohio farmers have fewer hogs on their farms today than in the past 15 years, according to the State-Federal crop report, and rural economists at Ohio State University point out that 20 per cent of this decrease came within the past year during the corn shortage.

"The decrease was greater in Ohio than in most corn belt states," says Mr. Arnold, one of the economists. "The total decrease for the corn belt amounted to only 16 percent. The reason for the 20 percent decrease in the number of hogs in Ohio was unquestionably because the corn crop of last year was much shorter in proportion to a normal crop in this state than in almost any of the other corn belt states."

"In Ohio the decrease in yield last year compared with the yield in 1923 was almost 37 per cent, while the other corn belt states averaged only about 25 percent, and the whole United States only 22 percent."

"This short corn crop together with unattractive prices sent many hogs to market during the late fall and early winter and left Ohio farmers with the fewest hogs in 15 years."

AMUNDSEN.

ALTHOUGH there is nothing so disheartening as failure, Captain Roald Amundsen has announced he will make another attempt to fly to the North Pole from the Norway side.

In addition to the natural dangers that lurk in the icy fastnesses of the Arctic circle Amundsen and his party went through an experience of danger and hardship due to their enforced imprisonment away from civilization for twenty-eight days, that would assail courage of the deepest dye.

Yet in the face of failure and ignoring the risk they have already experienced, the explorer and his intrepid followers are ready again to make the trip into the great north. And this is a sample of the kind of courage that has opened new worlds to man and brought greater knowledge to the fund of information science has gathered of this old planet.

MAGAZINES.

THE reform movement now in progress to rid book stalls of certain allegedly salacious magazines, may be worthy in concept but is very much like attempting to catch the bull by the tail.

The movement which has gained followers in many Ohio cities is directing its prohibitive machinery at the dealer instead of at the source. And it is interesting to note that if the attention of those interested in the movement were to be directed to the source, they would find the regulatory machinery of the federal government set up there before them.

It is manifestly unfair to the individual dealer to exert pressure to force him to rid his shelves of the prohibited magazines if his competitor is permitted to take advantage of that situation. If there is a demand for this type of reading matter—and dealers will tell you they sell several hundred of one of the banned magazines each month as compared to twenty-five or so of the higher type of fiction publications—these readers will continue to get the magazine in the city where the prohibition has not been put in effect. The local dealer therefore, will find that he is not only denied the profit on this type of magazine but the compulsory prohibition is not extended far enough to direct the taste of the public to the magazines which are without the pale of the movement.

Dealers are willing to give up the sale of these magazines if the prohibitive movement gets at the source and the public demand is forced into other channels, which will not mean a loss of business to the dealer.

The United States postal department controls the publication of these magazines by requiring them to pass certain tests before they are admitted to the mails. This test is applied with each issue, whether it be weekly or monthly. Monthly magazine publishers now have their August numbers in the hands of these censors, who pass on the contents before the circulation is accepted.

If there be any foundation for the charges made by those who would suppress these magazines, the fair and most effectual avenue open to them in their efforts to curb the sale, is to go at the source—the postal department—and catch the bull by the horns.

WILL MARK STREETS FOR TRAFFIC PLAN; PRUGH TAKES SEAT

Although no definite action was taken sentiment was voiced at the City Commission meeting Thursday night at City Hall in favor of immediately installing Xenia's arterial stop system at main thoroughfare intersections in accordance with the new city traffic ordinance.

Installation of the system which will require motorists to come to a complete stop before proceeding on Detroit, Main and Market Streets, main thoroughfares under the ordinance, has been delayed for more than a month.

City Manager S. O. Hale will immediately begin making plans for the erection of stop signs at a majority of fifteen designated street intersections with Market Street to educate the motoring public in the part of safe and sane driving and cut down the accident toll. The signs will be placed 100 feet from the intersections.

Signaling of other main thoroughfares will be taken up later.

Fifty stop signs are available for erection. Intersections will also be marked with the word "stop" as further warning to motorists.

The city is not required to sign intersections with any streets except Market Street, which was designated as a main thoroughfare by the traffic ordinance. The question of signing Main and Detroit Streets, main thoroughfares by state law, will be settled in the near future.

Enforcement of the traffic ordinance will probably also begin with the completion of the stop system, it is believed.

The Greene County Auto Club will aid the city in signing the intersections.

John W. Prugh, newly appointed city commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of George E. Hudson, took his seat at the meeting. Mr. Prugh will fill the unexpired term of Mr. Hudson. He occupied the chair vacated by the former commissioner and took an active part in the discussion of various routine affairs.

The matter of naming a mayor for the City of Xenia was not taken up by the commission at its regular meeting.

The commission also took under advisement a plan introduced by Robert Kelly, this city agent for an Elizabeth, N. J. traffic signal company, to solve the local traffic problem.

Routine business occupied the attention of the commission during the remainder of the session.

ZIONISTS TO MEET IN WASHINGTON; CONTESTS LOOMING

Washington, June 26.—The twenty-eighth annual convention of the Zionist Organization of America opens here Sunday, June 28, with more than 700 delegates from all parts of the United States coming to celebrate the advances made in the upbuilding of the Jewish Homeland in Palestine during the past year. The convention will last three days and will be followed by the annual convention of Hadassah, which will also continue for two days.

Leading American Zionists, who have recently returned from surveys of the Jewish Homeland movement in Palestine, will report on the progress made during the past year, featured by the most extensive colonization and the largest immigration in the history of Zionism and by the opening of the Hebrew University on Mount Scopus.

The convention this year is considered of utmost importance by Zionist leaders throughout the world, because definite action will be taken on questions relative to the administration of the Palestine mandate and brought before the World Zionist Congress, supreme Zionist body, which holds its biennial sessions in Vienna on August 18.

BACK WEIZMANN

American Zionist leaders, headed by Louis Lipsky, chairman of the Zionist organization, are backing Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Organization, in his efforts to have non-Zionists co-operate through the Jewish agency in upbuilding Palestine. The mandate issued by the League of Nations to Great Britain provides that the development of Palestine as the Jewish Homeland shall be carried on in cooperation with the Jewish agency, which, until otherwise changed shall consist of the World Zionist Organization.

During the past year steps have been taken to extend the Jewish Agency to include 50 per cent Zionists and 50 per cent non-Zionists. During his last visit to America this spring Dr. Weizmann, in co-operation with Louis Marshall, Felix M. Warburg, Samuel Untermyer, Mr. Lipsky and other leading American Jews, launched the organization of the American branch of the Jewish Agency on this basis.

Many European Zionists are strongly opposing the extension of the Jewish Agency, which they call the "American plan." This opposition is expected to develop first at the American convention.

MANY FISH DEAD

Nelsonville, June 26.—Thousands of dead fish are rotting on the banks of the Hocking River for many miles in this vicinity, according to reports to the state health department. State officials are investigating in an effort to learn the source of the poison in the stream which is believed to have caused the wholesale slaughter.

The letter was written to John Brahms at Eagle Rock, California, a boyhood friend of Mr. Marshall. On learning that Brahms had suffered a broken leg in an accident, Mr. Marshall promptly wrote him the following:

"My Dear John Brahms:

"I noticed by the Columbia City Post that you had met with a misfortune and had lost thereby a leg."

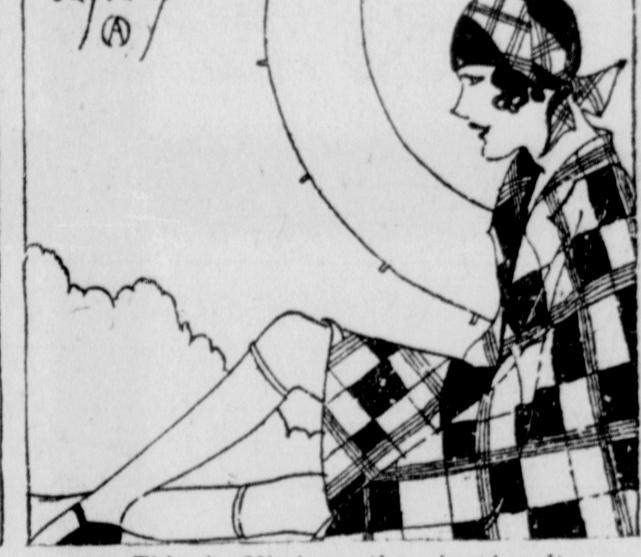

"I hope you are going to get better, and maybe it will be my good fortune to get to California again and come to see you. Whatever happens, adopt my philosophy of life—there is nothing so bad that it might not be worse, and a grin cures many a pain. I shall hope to hear that you are progressing along toward good health."

EVERETT SCOTT'S LUCKY STREAK HAS LASTED TEN YEARS

BY DAVID J. WALSH

New York, June 26—There have been great names in pony that never found their way into a world series box score—Ed Delahanty, LaJoie, Waddell, Hornsby, Sisler, Elmer Flick, Bill Bradley, Heilmann, Max Carey, Jake Fournier, Veach, Mike Doolan, Nap Rucker, Terry Turner, Bobby Wallace, Bill Bernhardt, Addie Joss, Donie Bush and Hal Chase are only a few that come to mind offhand.

Consider, then, the case of Everett Scott who has five world series checks to show for his ten years in baseball and seems to be in a fair way to add another to the exchequer.

Even though nearly at the end of his competitive rope, Scott's luck ran true to form. He was recently traded from the Yankees, a seemingly hopeless outfit, to the champion Senators, favored by many to win the 1925 pennant in the American League. With his usual facility, Scott again has jumped from the frying pan into the ploughed chaise lounge.

SETS RECORD

Yet, with all due respect to his ability, Scott would hardly be remembered in the coming years if it wasn't for the fact that he hung up an endurance record that probably will live always.

He played in 1,307 consecutive ball games from June 20, 1916 to May 7 of this year, when he was benched by Miller Huggins—a most remarkable effort.

But otherwise there was nothing about Scott's ball playing to engrave his name on the pages of Time. He was an excellent shortstop, but there have been better.

And, lest a misconstruction be placed upon these phrases, permit the writer to assure one and all that he considers Scott to have been eminently deserving of his good fortune. And, in this, he differs not at all from a dozen others to whom luck was more or less of a total stranger.

Scott, on the other hand, became acquainted almost from the outset of his major league career. He came up to the Red Sox in 1915, replaced the elderly Heinie Wagner and played against the Phillies in the Fall series. The Sox won again in 1916 and 1918, and Scott was on hand for the melon cutting.

SOLD TO YANKS

Then Harry Frazee began dismantling the Sox and after he had rendered them useless for purposes of pennant hunting, he traded Scott to the champion Yankees of 1922. The young man got into another world series that Fall and again in 1923, winding up his career in New York with second place money last season.

He now seems due for another cut, since it is pretty generally agreed that the Senators will do no worse than third this year.

MERCHANTS GOING AFTER EIGHTH WIN

The Xenia Merchants baseball team will go after its eighth consecutive victory in the game with Fairfield Sunday afternoon at the Dickinson Park diamond.

The Merchants are making diamond history this season by mowing teams down right and left and have an excellent chance to sail through the 1925 season undefeated.

Timely slugging and air-tight twirling has kept the Merchants on the winning side for seven straight games this season, which is undoubtedly the secret of diamond success. Added to this the team fielding has been above par and the Merchants are probably the strongest nine in the county.

Lewis and Jones have been alternately bearing the pitching burden again this season.

Jones will probably be given the tough assignment of pitching the Fairfield game with Ewing on the receiving end.

Fairfield is also touted as having a strong team this year and will endeavor to perform the feat of handing the Merchants their first beating in the Sunday clash. The game will probably start at 2:30 o'clock.

SATURDAY GAMES TO BE PLAYED FRIDAY

Twilight games in the Saturday Afternoon Industrial League will be played Friday afternoon instead of Saturday at the Washington Park diamond.

The first half of the double-header will bring together the Tilton's "33" team and the second-place Hooven and Allison nine. The leading R. A.

Kelly team will attempt to add the long string of victims in the final game.

With the addition of new strength, the Tiltons have become formidable contenders in the league and may pull the H. and A. team within striking distance of the tall order teams in the Friday clash.

The Kellys will also find hard sledding in the game with the Pennsy nine and one of the closest battles of the league season is looked for.

The Kellys now have a lead of two full games in the Industrial League over the runner-up H and A team.

The Piercing Pains of NEURITIS

Torturing pains—the kind that pierce and burn and never seem to let up—that rob a man of his sleep—that make him just a bag of nerves and all worn out.

Those are the pains that dope and coal tar products can only relieve. You've got to get something more lasting.

The quickest, safest and surest way to get rid of the persistent, nerve-racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenhu Special Formula No. 2. Be sure you get No. 2, which comes in capsule form.

Take these little dark green capsules as directed and notice how in about 24 hours they have considerably reduced if not entirely banished those severe, torturing pains that have caused you so many sleepless nights. Continue for two or three days more or until the pains have entirely disappeared.

It doesn't matter how long you may have suffered or whether your Neuritis is in the shoulder, arm, neck or legs. Allenhu Special Formula No. 2 will stop the torture and give you speedy relief. Sayre & Hemphill or any good druggist will be glad to supply you.

COMMISSIONERS MAY MARK DANGER SPOTS ON LOCAL HIGHWAYS

A request sent by Governor Vic Donahey to Ohio boards of county commissioners to erect "inexpensive, small, white crosses" at every spot on their respective road systems where accidents have occurred that resulted fatally, one cross for each person killed outright on the spot, has been received by Greene County commissioners, according to Herman Eavey, president of the board.

The board has been unable to give the matter its full consideration and no action will be taken until the next regular session, it is announced.

In a proclamation issued by the governor, a blanket request was made to all county commissioners in the state to erect such crosses. Instructions were issued to the state highway department directing that department to place the crosses at various points on the state highway system where traffic fatalities have occurred, in order to impress upon the motorist the necessity of careful driving.

The governor believes that "if every citizen of Ohio will perform his or her part the tremendous growing casualty list can be greatly reduced."

County commissioners have the option of erecting the crosses themselves or obtaining them from the state department of public welfare.

Erection of the crosses on the state system will commence July 1, it is announced.

MURDER VICTIM HAD FRACTURED SKULL

Batavia, O., June 25.—An autopsy performed Thursday by Dr. A. C. Christopher, coroner of Clermont county, revealed that the murderer of the pretty woman whose nude body was found floating in the Ohio river near Utopia, Ohio, late Tuesday, had fractured her skull evidently with a club before disposing of the body.

Coroner Christopher said also that the victim had been strangled and then thrown into the river.

As no water was found in the girl's lungs, it is believed she was dead before her body was thrown into the river.

Health
Hints
by the Father of Physical Culture

Any food which a man eats over and above what he actually requires, simply poisons and weakens him. If food is not properly digested and assimilated by the body, toxins (poisons) are formed, and these impair the tissues, poison the nerve-cells, and prevent their proper functioning. The thing to do, in such cases, when the patient feels weakened, is not to give him more food, but to get rid of the poisons which have accumulated within the body; and this is done by stimulating the activity of the excretory organs, and by preventing the administration of any more food until these poisons are completely eliminated.

The fact that food does not necessarily give strength, but may be a poison, is proved by the fact that a man, when he is ill does not crave food, but on the contrary turns against it. This is the voice of Nature, which thus says as plainly as possible that no food is required. If a man is weak and ill, it is not due to lack of food, but to the fact that his body is poisoned; and as these poisons are disposed of, he will increase in health and strength.

This is proved by the fact that many patients, no matter how much food they eat, constantly lose weight; in fact they lose more weight when they are eating heartily than when they are not eating at all!

No one need be afraid of starving by depriving the body of food for a day or two. It has been proved, by numerous experiments, that most persons will not starve in less than a month; and many people have fasted nearly double that length of time (drinking only water) and have not starved to death, but on the contrary, have cured themselves of chronic diseases thereby. Of course if one is in delicate health through poor assimilation, and much below normal weight, fasting may be inadvisable and should then only be undertaken under the supervision of a physician who can watch the heart beat and other symptoms of possible excessive weakness.

The patient may feel weak, if food is taken away from him, for a time; but this feeling is due to the fact that food is a stimulant, and the sudden withdrawal of any stimulant will result in a feeling of weakness. This feeling of weakness may be noted at the beginning of a fast; but it is delusion, and will pass off.

BRINGING UP FATHER

MICHAEL'S MARRIAGE

By MICHAEL

CHAPTER LXXX.
That evening at dinner Lilah remarked to Michael:

"Bertha Beall was here this afternoon, and she says that Abe Mallory, one of my old admirers is now going with one of your old admirers, Helen Hunley—appropriate, isn't it?"

He smiled, but slightly.

"Who's Bertha Beall?"

"Why, you've heard me speak of her! I don't believe you've ever met her though. Bertha doesn't go out much. She's awfully unattractive, but a very nice girl. I've known her a long time, and like her."

"Thought you weren't going to have any company," he observed casually, as if it didn't matter.

"Well, since you've upset our plans... Besides, I didn't invite her; she just came of her own accord."

"Oh!"

Silence prevailed for a time, then Lilah addressed her husband, eagerly:

"Michael, let's go to the dance at the country club tonight."

He regarded her for a moment, then rubbed his chin. "I don't know... I'm pretty tired."

"Yes, dear, I know you're tired, but a ride in the country will rest you up. Besides we'll only stay for a couple of dances."

"All right," he yielded.

"Don't go if you don't want to, dear."

"Oh, I want to all right." His tone put her in a thoughtful mood, and after they had dressed and were on their way she spoke to him:

"Michael, I think it would be a good plan if each of us were to have one evening off each week. I mean for each of us to have one night that is absolutely our own. It could be the same night: Monday, say. You could go out with Lonnie Capper and play poker and drink that vile stuff they serve at your club, and I could go where I liked."

He glanced at her strangely. "I don't like the idea of you going out at night alone."

"Oh! It will be all right for you to go out at night alone?"

"Well, you know with a man it's different."

"Yes, I know that's the way most men feel about it, but I thought you were different, Michael."

"Really, Lilah," he hastened to say, "it would be all right except that people would misunderstand. You know what they'd think."

"What would they think? They'd seen us together at other

Sayre & Hemphill Druggists

We Like to Sell Stamps

Dedicated to "Saturday Night"

When I was new in the drug business some 200 years ago, nothing pained me more than to have to deal out stamps and postal cards to customers who bought nothing else. A little old fashioned druggist in Xenia (he's still living) taught me different and I thank him for the lesson. Here was his philosophy:

"A drug store MUST have TRAFFIC PAST THE COUNTERS in order to be a real success in its community. To get it the proprietor many times will give away roses, lilies, prize packages and occasionally—REAL MONEY! To me, that's a very foolish, expensive method—foolish because it costs no one and expensive because 'give aways' cost real money!"

"THE REAL WAY to get this 'traffic' is to do the LITTLE THINGS, perform the HOMELY COURTESY and DO IT EVERY DAY of the year! 'Make change' for customers, sell them stamps, town, direction to other places, everything an Information Bureau TRAFFIC!"

And that's US FOLKS here in this shop! I hope I lick Uncle Sam on the stamp business, wear out a bearing on the telephone, jam the Cash Register "making change" and get hoarse giving out information.

DOC SAYRE.

Shorty Says:-
Fact, i really BELIEVE Doc really means what he says, up above! Much as I hate to agree with Doc at times, I GOTTA! I've seen that man chase around counters on one wheel, bang the cash register, look up a pound of stamps, buy a pound of stamps, lose his cigar butt, dent his derby, show a man how to read his road map and end up in front of the fountain, hooked onto an Orangeade with NOT ONE CENT profit to paste in his wad!

And SMILING EVER' MINIT.

The only way I figger out is that Doc is just a little weak—well you know what I mean—a little weak upstairs, instance, I saw he sold the lady a stamp, found an address for her and made a phone call with the other arm! The mother had to fix her garter or sumpin'.

Yes, Doc's accomodatin' but he's sure a "horrible example" to ME. P. S. Canada is wet.

An Ode To Swimming!
When the sun gets happy and pulls a grin, so dagon hot it burns like sin. And your shoulders sizzle and your nose it peels—don't I know just how it feels!

THAT'S WHEN UNGUENTINE (spread over) TAKES THE HEAT OUT—cost 50c or thereabouts.

P. S. Canada is wet.
